

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method of generating a user interest profile is described. The method comprises monitoring electronic messages directed to the user. Electronic messages which satisfy at least one predetermined condition indicating that 5 they are likely to include information relevant to the user's interests are selected. Profile data is then extracted from those selected messages.

00077303-101501